

Routes to Cardiff

By Road

Cardiff is served by the M4 and is easily accessible from all parts of Britain. From the south west, take the M5 and from the south of England, follow major A-roads to the M4. From Scotland, the north of England and the Midlands, travel via the M50 to the M4.

Travelling east on the M4. Leave the motorway at Junction 32, follow the A470, sign-posted City Centre.

The Cathays Park campus – Follow the A470 towards the city centre and the University is sign-posted.

The Heath Park campus – Follow the A470 as far as Gabalfa Interchange. Take first exit onto the A48 (Eastern Avenue), sign-posted Newport and the M4, but immediately exit at the slip road on the left. This leads directly onto the University Hospital site.

Travelling west on the M4. Leave the motorway at Junction 29, follow the A48(M)/A48, sign-posted Cardiff East and the South. Continue for approximately seven miles.

The Cathays Park campus – Continue along the A48 to the A470 (Gabalfa Interchange). Leave the A48 at Gabalfa Interchange and take the A470, sign-posted city centre. Follow the A470 towards the city centre and the University is sign-posted.

The Heath Park campus – On the A48, speed reductions will be noticeable from 50 to 40mph. At this time the University Hospital will be visible on the right. Exit the next slip road, sign-posted "University Hospital" and turn right at the traffic lights along a short road leading directly onto the University Hospital site.

Car Parking

The Cathays Park campus – Two Park and Ride services operate in Cardiff – one from the East of the city (£3.00 per car) and one from the West of the city

(£3.00 per person). See Map 2 for location. Car parking in the University car parks is extremely limited and a permit is required. However, there are several public car parks located close to the University, all of which are marked on Map 4. There is also pay and display car parking available on Park Place and within the civic centre (along College Road, City Hall Road, King Edward VII Avenue and Museum Avenue). This typically costs around £3.50 for two hours. Payment is by coin or debit/credit card. Parking in the North Road car park is £5.00 per day. (Charges for city centre multi-storey car parks vary considerably, up to £18.00 per day.)

The Heath Park campus – Limited car parking is available in various car parks.

By Rail / Coach / Bus

High speed inter-city trains provide frequent services between all major British cities. The Cardiff-London service, from London Paddington, runs at 30 minute intervals throughout the day. Frequent services also connect Cardiff with Bristol, Birmingham, Southampton, Manchester, Liverpool and with many other cities and towns. Cardiff is also served by regular coach services from towns and cities across the UK. From Cardiff Central Station there is a frequent train service which stops at Cathays Station (located on the Cathays Park campus). Local bus services also operate from Cardiff Central Station.

The Cathays Park campus – The No 27 service leaves Hayes Bridge Road every 10 minutes throughout the day.

The Heath Park campus – The No 86 service leaves Stand C5. The Nos 8, 9 and 9a leave from Wood Street.

By Air

Cardiff Airport is 11 miles from the city centre. Coach and train services operate between Cardiff Central Station and London's Heathrow and Gatwick airports.

Cardiff University

"One of the top teaching and research institutions in the UK. It has excellent facilities, often magnificent buildings, great social and sporting facilities, wrapped up in a vibrant, cultural city centre."

Sunday Times Good University Guide

Cardiff University is about the freedom to explore, to learn and to discover.

Established in 1883, by Royal Charter, with thirteen members of academic staff and 151 students, Cardiff today has grown to become one of the UK's largest, most respected and most popular universities, internationally renowned for our innovative research and teaching.

A member of the UK's "Ivy League" of Russell Group research intensive universities, Cardiff's research informs its teaching, offering students a breadth of expertise in research encompassing: the humanities, the natural, physical, health, life and social sciences; engineering and technology; preparation for a wide range of professions; and a longstanding commitment to lifelong learning.

Our strong and broad disciplinary research base enables Cardiff to combine its expertise to tackle the big issues of today and tomorrow through multi-disciplinary research. Cardiff research develops knowledge and understanding which, in collaboration with a wide range of partners, is applied to produce real benefits locally and worldwide.

Our students are drawn from a variety of backgrounds, from throughout Wales, the rest of the UK and worldwide. International students are welcomed from 100 different countries and account for some 12% of our total student population.

We pride ourselves on delivering an outstanding student experience, an experience we believe should be open to all, encouraging students from the most deprived areas to apply and succeed on Cardiff courses.

When they arrive in Cardiff, our students benefit from a stimulating study environment, research-led teaching and interaction with academics working at the frontiers of knowledge in their field.

As a major higher education provider for the professions, we have around 300 undergraduate and postgraduate taught courses that are accredited by more than 50 professional bodies. In total more than 20% of Cardiff University students pursue postgraduate study.

Our students are valued by employers for their academic ability, high-calibre, motivation, extra-curricular activities and resourcefulness. At Cardiff, education is for life and employability is embedded in our student experience. 93% per cent of 2011 Cardiff University graduates found a job, or entered further study within six months of completing their studies.

The University's success is founded on the talent and dedication of our staff and students. As one of the largest employers in Wales our 6,000 staff form a community built upon a commitment to creating a progressive and positive working environment.

Our good practice has been recognised externally with endorsements including Investors in People accreditation and a University-wide Athena Swan Bronze award for our commitment to women working in science, engineering and technology.
