Torn Paper Landscapes

Step 1: Draw 3 lines across your blank piece of paper.

These are known as the foreground, middleground and background of your landscape picture.

These lines will help you design the picture. Objects in the foreground, like the trees in this picture, look bigger and those in the background look smaller.

Step 2: Choose some paper and tear a strip from your first colour. Leaving some paper at the top for the sky, glue down your first piece.

Step 3: Work your way down the page, overlapping and gluing each piece.

Experiment with your tearing. Try making big mountains, rolling hills, straight plans, or wavy fields.

Continue adding torn layers until you reach the bottom of your paper.

If you like, add torn paper details like trees, clouds, sun, or flowers.
