

Volunteer Ambassador – National Slate Museum

Purpose of role: Volunteer Ambassadors are champions and critical friends to Amgueddfa Cymru. They collaborate with and support Amgueddfa Cymru to enhance and improve our services for our communities.

Whilst the National Slate Museum is closed for major redevelopment, Volunteer Ambassadors will help with the next big step of continuing our story beyond the walls of the museum!

Volunteers will:

- submit ideas and feedback as a collective,
- attend events and sessions to champion our work,
- provide fresh perspectives on our work,
- be able to attend various meetings and committees across Amgueddfa Cymru representing themselves, their communities and volunteers.

Location: National Slate Museum

Age: 18+

The role would suit you if:

- you're willing to get involved and share your lived experiences,
- you're happy to share your opinions in a constructive way,
- you're interested in championing for others,
- you're happy to share your passion for Amgueddfa Cymru.

The role is open to everyone, and we value perspectives and insights from diverse backgrounds. We particularly want to hear from people with lived experience of neurodiversity, disability, those who identify as part of the global majority or from LGBTQ+ communities.

Considerations: The role can be ad-hoc. As part of the role, you will receive an Amgueddfa Cymru email account and will be contacting staff and other volunteers through MTeams and email.

Hours and Commitment: We aim to meet once a month in person or online. The nature of the role means volunteers can sign up for additional responsibility and event.

Interested? Send us a completed registration form or contact us on volunteering@museumwales.ac.uk or 029 2057 3002 if you have any questions.
